Gas Rationing Reported Only Matter Of Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — It may be only a matter of time before gasoline is rationed and home heating oil prices take a flying leap, says an informed administration source.

The source said President Nixon and his Energy Emergency Action Group decided Friday to have plans drawn up on which decisions, perhaps next Tuesday, can be based.

Only Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz voted against the move to complete gasoline rationing plans, the source said. The group generally agreed there was virtually no chance of getting a high gasoline tax through Congress, as Shultz would prefer.

In a public statement following Friday's meeting, the White House urged power plants burning oil to switch to coal if they can.

But in Charleston, W.Va., seven coal executives said there is little or no available coal for new customers.

A source said the Cabinet-level energy group envisioned reductions of 30 per cent in gasoline use by private automobiles and 20 per cent by other vehicles.

The deep cuts are demanded by the administration's basic petroleum strategy of shifting refinery production from gasoline to fuel oils.

One obstacle to the shift is the higher profit provided by gasoline sales.

An informed source said the Cost of Living Council Friday proposed freezing the price ceiling on gasoline, while approving price increases of 3 to 6 cents per gallon on "distillate oils," including home heating oil, and diesel and jet fuel.

The Cabinet group told the COLC to come back Tuesday with a final plan "for a decision on implementation," energy adviser John A. Love announced.

Meanwhile, three major oil companies announced price increases of 2 to 3.2 cents per gallon on gasoline and 2 to 4.5 cents per gallon on home heating oil. Other companies also expected to raise prices soon.

Love said the "absolute necessity" of gasoline rationing "has not now been constructively demonstrated."

But he said planning for rationing continues "with additional studies still to be presented for final decision."

That also would be discussed when the group meets next Tuesday, a source said.

He said the group appeared to lean toward a gasoline rationing plan providing for ration coupons that could be sold by their owners openly at whatever price a purchaser would pay.

Meanwhile, two more air lines announced cutbacks.

Eastern Airlines laid off 360 pilots, blaming the fuel crisis, and said it would seek permission from the Civil Aeronautics Board to make cuts in service.

Ozark Air Lines cut its flight schedule effective Saturday and promised more cuts in January.

David Ben-Gurion Dies

TEL AVIV (AP) — David Ben-Gurion, Israel's founding father and its first premier, died today two weeks after he suffered a paralyzing cerebral hemorrhage. He was 87.

His family and close friends were by his side in the Sheba Medical Center of Tel Hashomer hospital when doctors pronounced him dead at 11 a.m. local time — 4 a.m. EST.

He had held the premiership twice and resigned for the last time in 1963. As premier and defense minister, he led Israel through the 1948 war of independence and the 1956 Suez war. He died in the wake of the fourth war between Israel and the Arabs, just as the hostile sides were taking their first tentative steps toward direct negotiations.

Ben-Gurion retired from public life in 1970. Since then, he had been working 15 hours a day on a history of Israel's early years, usually writing at his small, prefabricated cottage at a kibbutz in the Negev desert.

B.G., as Israelis knew him, last appeared in public at Israel's 25th anniversary celebration in May, hunched in the grandstand wearing an Israeli farmer's hat.

Ben-Gurion had been in failing health for more than a year and was hospitalized twice before his final illness.

He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage on Nov. 18 in his Tel Aviv apartment. He rallied at first under around-the-clock medical attention, but his condition began to deteriorate Nov. 23 with a drop in pulse and blood pressure.

During the first week after his stroke, he received numerous high-ranking well-wishers, including Premier Golda Meir.

President Nixon had cabled Ben-Gurion: "Now that peace has arisen, I anticipate the day you will see it materialize with your own eyes."

At the time Ben-Gurion died, his grandson Alon Ben-Gurion was being treated for leg wounds suffered in the October war. He also is survived by two daughters.

In an interview on his 86th birthday last year, Ben-Gurion said the Jewish state he declared in 1948 actually began in 1870, when French Jews opened an agricultural school near Tel Aviv "to teach the Jews to work the land and rebuild our country."

But in another sense, he said, the nation will not really exist until there is peace with the Arabs, until Israel's population is tripled and its desert is developed.

"Peace with the Arabs? Once we were at peace, and we worked together.... There will be peace again. I am not certain it will happen in six months or a year, but we will have it."

"The main problem facing Israel today is to bring more Jews to build the country.... We need at least five or six million Jews more. How long will it take? I cannot tell you. I believe it can be done in 10 or 15 years, but I am not certain."

The future statesman was born David Green in Plonsk, Poland, on Oct. 16, 1886. His father, an unlicensed lawyer, turned their home into a center for Zionism.

Ben-Gurion came to Palestine in 1906 to work as a laborer in one of the tiny Jewish settlements cropping up there. Like other European Jews who began a new life in Palestine, he chose a new name from the Bible.

He soon became a militant Zionist, and in 1915 the Turkish rulers of Palestine expelled him. He went to the United States to raise money.

While in America, Ben-Gurion met a young nurse named Paula Munweiss. They were married and remained together until her death in 1968 at the age of 76.

In 1920 he helped found the Mapai political party and later helped establish the Histadrut, Israel's powerful labor federation.

Jewish immigration to Palestine jumped sharply during the Nazi purges; and by the end of World War II, Arab-Israeli clashes had risen to such a pitch that Britain took the issue to the United Nations.

The world body voted on Nov. 29, 1947, to partition the area into Jewish and Palestinian states. On May 14, 1948, the same day that the last British troops left Palestine, Ben-Gurion declared Israel an independent state and became its first premier.

Armies from neighboring Arab states promptly invaded, and the war that followed left Israel weary and impoverished. Ben-Gurion pulled the nation to its feet with rationing and other austere economic measures.

Ben-Gurion resigned in 1953 for a brief period, settling in the Negev Desert at Sde Boker as a demonstration that Israel's future lay in an industrialized, revitalized desert.

He soon was prompted to return to the government, however, by the Lavon affair. That incident, its details still concealed by censorship, involved a plot to plant bombs in the U.S. and British embassies in Cairo in 1954, hoping to throw the blame on the Egyptians and prevent closer U.S.-Egyptian ties.

The plot failed. Defense Minister Pinhas Lavon resigned, and Ben-Gurion took his place in February 1955. In November of that year, he regained the premiership in the general elections.

In October of the following year, Israel invaded the Egyptian-held Sinai Peninsula and captured it in 10 days with British and French help. The victory took Ben-Gurion to a pinnacle of popularity in Israel.

A year later, however, under pressure from both the United States and the Soviet Union, he pulled out of the Sinai and the Gaza Strip.

His resignation in 1963 signaled a break with many of his former close associates — among them Levi Eshkol, who succeeded him, and Golda Meir, the current premier.

Nixon Cash Deposits Scrutinized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soon-to-be-released data on President Nixon's personal finances will disclose he has periodically purchased certificates of deposit in a bank headed by friend C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, sources report.

One White House official, in confirming the presidential purchases, said "there is nothing unusual about it."

The President "placed dollars into certificates of deposit" after sale of property "so that he did not have an excessively large checking account," the official said. "It's just like a savings account."

Offered by most banks, certificates of deposit pay a slightly higher interest rate than savings accounts, but the purchaser must agree to keep a certain amount of money — usually multiples of $5,000 or more — on deposit for a specified period.

One source said Nixon purchased a six-month, $100,000 certificate of deposit from Rebozo's Key Biscayne, Fla., bank on Sept. 9, 1969, has renewed it periodically and still holds it.

This disclosure came within hours after a bank vice president, Thomas Wakefield, confirmed such a Nixon purchase without giving a specific date. Both Wakefield and the White House official denied there was a link between Nixon's purchase and $100,000 given Rebozo by industrialist Howard Hughes.

Rebozo, who described the money as a campaign contribution, has said he kept it in a safe deposit box for three years before returning it earlier this year. Documents in a Hughes legal proceeding indicate that Rebozo received the $100,000 in two installments — the first in late 1969 and the second in 1970.

The September 1969 date cited by the sources was within five months after Nixon sold his New York City apartment for a $62,140 profit and his interest in a Rebozo-headed real estate corporation for a $185,891 profit.

think about 80 or 90 per cent will close Sunday. Actually, the favorable response (to Nixon's suggestion) has been overwhelming."

Charles Matties, a board director of the Connecticut Gasoline Retailers Association, predicted that 95 per cent of the 3,400 gasoline outlets in the state would stop selling fuel on Sunday.

"Of those who stay open, I don't think that they'll stay open very long. They'll line up so deep it's going to be brutal," he said.

Among the few open stations will be those on the New Jersey Turnpike. But drivers expecting to "fill 'er up" will be disappointed.

Attendants at the turnpike's 12 service areas will pump gas on Sunday, but a turnpike authority spokesman said drivers will have to convince the attendants they really need the fuel. In addition, sales will be rationed — five gallons of gasoline per automobile and 20 gallons of diesel fuel for trucks and buses.

Mideast Shooting Continues

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel has accused Egypt of launching attacks at three points on the west bank of the Suez Canal, the latest in a series of shooting incidents since the Middle East ceasefire.

On the diplomatic front, the chief of the U.N. peacekeeping force continues his efforts to get the Israeli-Egyptian ceasefire talks restarted.

The Israeli command said the Egyptian thrusts Friday were repelled after artillery and mortar exchanges. No casualties were reported. Two of the incidents were near Little Bitter Lake, and the third was in Sinai territory occupied by the Egyptian 3rd Army, the Israelis said.

Finnish Lt. Gen. Ensio Siilasvuo, commander of the U.N. force, met for an hour Friday in Cairo with Egyptian War Minister Ahmed Ismail in an effort to get the cease-fire talks back on the track. He then flew to Jerusalem, and a U.N. spokesman said he would meet Sunday with Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan.

Egyptian Maj. Gen. Mohamed el-Gamasy broke off the desert talks with Israeli Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv on Thursday. They had been meeting at Kilometer 101 on the Cairo-Suez road.

An Egyptian spokesman said Israel was balking at carrying out a point in the cease-fire agreement calling for negotiations on a troop withdrawal to the lines of Oct. 22, the date of the first U.N. cease-fire.

U.N. officials said Siilasvuo and Ismail concentrated on the withdrawal question and on guarding against a major resumption of fighting along the Suez front. Israel reportedly is willing to withdraw to about 20 miles east of the Suez Canal, but Israeli newspapers said this week that Egypt wants the Israelis to withdraw about six miles more than that.

U.S. officials believe the breakdown in the cease-fire talks will not block the Middle East peace negotiations scheduled to begin in Geneva about Dec. 18 with representatives from Israel, Egypt, Syria and Jordan. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger left Washington on Friday for private talks at the United Nations, apparently on progress in getting the negotiations going.

The two roving oil minister ambassadors of the Arab oil-producing countries, Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani of Saudi Arabia and Belaid Abdessalam of Algeria, announced Friday in Brussels that they would come to the United States on Monday.

GRAFFITI

I USED TO KNOW HER WHEN SHE WAS MY AGE

They conferred with Belgian officials Friday and promised to meet today in Brussels with the Dutch, who are under a total oil embargo.

They already have visited Paris and London and plan trips to West Germany and Italy after Washington. A report published in Tokyo said they would travel to Japan in January.

Yamani said Arab oil producers view France, Britain and Spain as "friendly" countries, Belgium, West Germany and Canada as "neutral" and the United States and the Netherlands as "hostile." He indicated oil would be distributed accordingly.

Campaign Finance Tangle Worsens

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government's debt is $63 billion over the legal limit and the Senate is preparing for its first Sunday session in 112 years — all because of a tangle created by an election reform measure.

Despite the government's technical violation, officials said bonds and other government debts could be paid off over the next few days out of about $4.5 billion in cash on hand.

Some congressional action is likely before any real financial crisis occurs.

The situation results from the Senate's decision earlier in the week to attach a broad measure for public financing of presidential and congressional campaigns to a bill extending and raising the legal debt limit.

The House balked at the provision for congressional elections. A proposed compromise limiting the bill to presidential elections and primaries ran into a filibuster Friday by Sen. James Allen, D-Ala.

Allen blocked action to send the entire package to a Senate-House conference committee.

Even before the current debt ceiling

law expired at midnight, both houses had adjourned, the House until Monday and the Senate until today.

Earlier in the day, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield moved to force action, winning approval of sessions today and Sunday, the latter by a vote of 59 to 28.

If the Sunday session comes off, the Senate will vote at 11 a.m. EST on a cloture petition. This would restrict debate and force action on the move to send the package to conference.

Democratic leaders were doubtful they could succeed in the first effort to gain the needed two-thirds cloture vote but planned a second attempt Monday.

The last time the Senate met on a Sunday was on March 3, 1861, on the eve of Abraham Lincoln's inaugural.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., the assistant Democratic leader, said he expects far more than the 51 senators needed to do business. Several senators canceled out-of-town engagements.

The compromise campaign financing plan would extend the existing law to finance the 1976 election out of a fund to be created by having taxpayers earmark $1 of their taxes by checking off a box on their return.

Social Security Increase Gains Approval Of Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted overwhelmingly to increase Social Security benefits 11 per cent and set up a system of grants for low-income working families.

The 66-8 vote Friday night sent the legislation to conference with the House, which also has approved an 11 per cent across-the-board boost in Social Security payments for the 30 million persons now on the rolls.

The House provisions were in a different bill than the one cleared by the Senate.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., manager of the Senate version, said he was confident a compromise would be sent to President Nixon before the 1973 session ends.

The Senate debated the legislation for three days, adding dozens of provisions including $2.8 billion worth of new Social Security benefits.

In addition, the measure contains many revisions of the welfare system that are not in the House version.

The most important of these would set up work bonus payments to low-income families with children, which could be as much as $400 a year.

The payments would be 10 per cent of income up to a $4,000 earnings level. An estimated 4 million working heads of families would benefit.

It is expected many of the Senate provisions will be dropped in conference to cut the cost.

The Social Security increase would take effect in two steps, 7 per cent effective immediately and 4 per cent next June.

Fund Raising Talk Appropriate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Rep. C. William O'Neill of Columbus has selected the appropriate time and place to discuss fund raising in the attorney general's office.

O'Neill, a Republican candidate for attorney general, plans a news conference at 5:45 p.m. Sunday in the Columbus-Sheraton Hotel.

Fifteen minutes later, Democratic Atty. Gen. Bill Brown will begin a $100-a-plate fund raising banquet at the same hotel.

Service Stations To Close

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most service station owners across the country plan to close their gas pumps on Sunday either because they don't have the fuel to sell or because they're trying to conserve energy as requested by President Nixon.

The President requested the voluntary ban on Sunday gas sales in his energy speech last Sunday. A bill pending in Congress would give him the power to make the closing mandatory.

An Associated Press survey showed the great majority of stations expect to close this Sunday. Industry spokesmen and trade association representatives in 31 states said at least 75 per cent of the stations would sell no gas from 9 p.m. Saturday to midnight Sunday.

Stations in some areas already have been closing on Sundays because of lack of fuel. Spokesmen for the Oregon Gasoline Dealers Association said that between half and two-thirds of the state's 2,800 stations have been closing Sunday for several months because of the fuel shortage.

This Sunday, the spokesman said, about 90 per cent of the stations are expected to shut their gas pumps, although some may stay open to provide repairs and emergency services.

The American Automobile Association said 70 per cent of the 480 stations in Rhode Island now are closed on Sunday and another 20 per cent are expected to close either this week or next.

Spokesmen for Ohio gasoline retailers estimated that 80 to 90 per cent of the state's 12,000 service stations would close their gas pumps on Sunday. A spokesman for the highway patrol said motorists who run out of gas will be supplied by the patrol. "In this cold weather we're not going to let anyone sit out on the highway and freeze," the spokesman said.

Gordon Spidahl, president of the North Dakota Gasoline Retailers Association said there were about 1,100 stations in the state and added, "I

U.S. officials believe the breakdown in the cease-fire talks will not block the Middle East peace negotiations scheduled to begin in Geneva about Dec. 18 with representatives from Israel, Egypt, Syria and Jordan. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger left Washington on Friday for private talks at the United Nations, apparently on progress in getting the negotiations going.

The two roving oil minister ambassadors of the Arab oil-producing countries, Sheik Ahmed Zaki Yamani of Saudi Arabia and Belaid Abdessalam of Algeria, announced Friday in Brussels that they would come to the United States on Monday.

GRAFFITI

I USED TO KNOW HER WHEN SHE WAS MY AGE

They conferred with Belgian officials Friday and promised to meet today in Brussels with the Dutch, who are under a total oil embargo.

They already have visited Paris and London and plan trips to West Germany and Italy after Washington. A report published in Tokyo said they would travel to Japan in January.

Yamani said Arab oil producers view France, Britain and Spain as "friendly" countries, Belgium, West Germany and Canada as "neutral" and the United States and the Netherlands as "hostile." He indicated oil would be distributed accordingly.

Campaign Finance Tangle Worsens

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government's debt is $63 billion over the legal limit and the Senate is preparing for its first Sunday session in 112 years — all because of a tangle created by an election reform measure.

Despite the government's technical violation, officials said bonds and other government debts could be paid off over the next few days out of about $4.5 billion in cash on hand.

Some congressional action is likely before any real financial crisis occurs.

The situation results from the Senate's decision earlier in the week to attach a broad measure for public financing of presidential and congressional campaigns to a bill extending and raising the legal debt limit.

The House balked at the provision for congressional elections. A proposed compromise limiting the bill to presidential elections and primaries ran into a filibuster Friday by Sen. James Allen, D-Ala.

Allen blocked action to send the entire package to a Senate-House conference committee.

Even before the current debt ceiling

law expired at midnight, both houses had adjourned, the House until Monday and the Senate until today.

Earlier in the day, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield moved to force action, winning approval of sessions today and Sunday, the latter by a vote of 59 to 28.

If the Sunday session comes off, the Senate will vote at 11 a.m. EST on a cloture petition. This would restrict debate and force action on the move to send the package to conference.

Democratic leaders were doubtful they could succeed in the first effort to gain the needed two-thirds cloture vote but planned a second attempt Monday.

The last time the Senate met on a Sunday was on March 3, 1861, on the eve of Abraham Lincoln's inaugural.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., the assistant Democratic leader, said he expects far more than the 51 senators needed to do business. Several senators canceled out-of-town engagements.

The compromise campaign financing plan would extend the existing law to finance the 1976 election out of a fund to be created by having taxpayers earmark $1 of their taxes by checking off a box on their return.

Social Security Increase Gains Approval Of Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted overwhelmingly to increase Social Security benefits 11 per cent and set up a system of grants for low-income working families.

The 66-8 vote Friday night sent the legislation to conference with the House, which also has approved an 11 per cent across-the-board boost in Social Security payments for the 30 million persons now on the rolls.

The House provisions were in a different bill than the one cleared by the Senate.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., manager of the Senate version, said he was confident a compromise would be sent to President Nixon before the 1973 session ends.

The Senate debated the legislation for three days, adding dozens of provisions including $2.8 billion worth of new Social Security benefits.

In addition, the measure contains many revisions of the welfare system that are not in the House version.

The most important of these would set up work bonus payments to low-income families with children, which could be as much as $400 a year.

The payments would be 10 per cent of income up to a $4,000 earnings level. An estimated 4 million working heads of families would benefit.

It is expected many of the Senate provisions will be dropped in conference to cut the cost.

The Social Security increase would take effect in two steps, 7 per cent effective immediately and 4 per cent next June.

Fund Raising Talk Appropriate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Rep. C. William O'Neill of Columbus has selected the appropriate time and place to discuss fund raising in the attorney general's office.

O'Neill, a Republican candidate for attorney general, plans a news conference at 5:45 p.m. Sunday in the Columbus-Sheraton Hotel.

Fifteen minutes later, Democratic Atty. Gen. Bill Brown will begin a $100-a-plate fund raising banquet at the same hotel.

Weather

Sunny and warmer today, high, near 50. Partly cloudy tonight, low, mid 30s. Mostly sunny and warmer Sunday, high, upper 50s. Probability of precipitation, zero per cent today, tonight and tomorrow. Friday's temperatures were: high, 57; low, 28.

Every Farmer Needs To Analyze

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

The Ohio Farm Business Analysis is designed to evaluate farm businesses. The farm will be analyzed on the basis of resources available and receipts and expenses incurred in using these resources. Efficiency factors will be computed and will indicate the relative strengths and weaknesses of the business.

In addition, state and area summaries will be provided to allow farmers to compare their operation with other similar operations. After two or more years' analysis have been made on your farm you will be able to compare these years to determine if you are correcting weak points in the business and, in general, moving in the right direction.

You can take the information requested on the input form from your cash receipt and expense records, from your inventory and depreciation schedule, and from your crop and livestock enterprise records. These items are standard in most accounting systems; therefore, it is not absolutely necessary that you use the Ohio Commercial Farm Account Book to complete the 7363 form.

The program in farm management of The Ohio State University provides specialized educational assistance in all phases of farm business organization and management. The foundation of this program is a farm account and business analysis project carried out in cooperation with The Ohio State University and farm operators from all over Ohio.

Complete farm records are analyzed under the supervision of Extension farm management specialists by use of an electronic computer. If your records are complete, including beginning and closing inventories, and you are interested in having an analysis of your last year's records, take them to your County Extension Agent, area farm management agent, or vocational agriculture teacher by March 15. Your farm will be given a county number and a special farm number at the local office. This means that the identification of your farm can be known only by you, your county agent, area agent, or your vocational agriculture teacher, if you so desire.

A summary is made of all records turned in each year by enterprise groups. This summary is analyzed to provide current information on the changing economics of the farming business. It provides an organized method of evaluating new technological developments for the benefits of all farmers of the area. In brief, it's aimed at answering WHAT'S NEW? IS IT SUCCESSFUL? DOES IT PAY? DOES IT FIT ON MY FARM?

Evaluation Cheapens Feed Costs

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Ration evaluation is a program to provide Ohio dairy farmers and beef producers an accurate and detailed analysis of the rations they are feeding their animals. Laboratory technicians analyze the feeds being fed for nutrient content. A computer calculates the total amounts of these nutrients fed daily per animal and compares these amounts with standard nutrient requirements for that type of animal.

The Ohio Livestock Ration Evaluation Program is offered jointly by the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service, The Ohio State University, and the Ohio Agricultural Research Development Center. The analytical laboratory and computer being used are located on the campus of the OARDC at Wooster, Ohio. These facilities also provide the services for the Ohio Plant Analysis Program.

Farmers can have rations evaluated for the following animal types: lactating dairy cows, dry dairy cows, dairy heifers, finishing steers, finishing beef heifers, replacement beef heifers, lactating beef cows, dry beef cows.

By submitting just one "fact sheet" and set of feed samples, a producer can get rations evaluated for up to six different animal types or up to six different groups (levels of milk production or body weight).

The program can analyze the following feeds: legume hay and silage (1-4 cuttings), grass hay and silage (1-4 cuttings), corn silage, sorghum silage, small grain silage, dry and high moisture shelled corn, dry and high moisture ground ear corn, protein supplement, grain-protein mixes, complete feeds.

Feeds are analyzed at the laboratory for these items: dry matter, crude protein, calcium, phosphorus, magnesium, potassium, manganese, iron, copper, zinc, molybdenum.

Within about two weeks after the laboratory receives the feed samples and fact sheet, the farmer will receive by mail and computer print-out sheet. On the sheet will be the analytical data for each feed in the ration (analyzed data for feeds submitted and standard feed nutrient values for feeds not submitted).

These analytical data are used in the "Ration Evaluation" section of the report to show the nutrients from all feeds in the ration. The daily requirements of the various nutrients are shown for the type of animal involved. The amount of each nutrient consumed and required are compared, and, if deficiencies exist, a statement is printed on the report indicating the deficiency and what general corrective action should be taken.

Contact the County Extension Office to obtain the necessary materials for submitting samples or for further information. You can also obtain these materials and additional information from many feed industry people, veterinarians, and vocational agriculture instructors in Ohio.

Students Offer Program For Nursing Homes

Washington Elementary School students once again observed their tradition of presenting gifts to local nursing homes during the Thanksgiving Season. Students assembled in the school auditorium Wednesday afternoon where Mr. & Mrs. Jack Born presented a program of seasonal music and chalk art.

The Student body sang several Thanksgiving songs and Gary Hoffman, a sixth grade student, offered a prayer of Thanksgiving. As they left the auditorium students placed their Thanksgiving gifts in offering plates. The money was used to purchase flowers, cakes, and fruit.

Haunting Ghost-Writing Tale

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—A rich old rooster who lives it up in an expensive New York hotel decided not long ago that for the sake of common man, and for inspiration of aspiring young people, he should write a book about himself. There was a not unprecedented hangup. He couldn't write very much more than his name. So, he inserted a small help-wanted advertisement in a local paper, searching for a ghost-writer capable of presenting his message to the world. Sure enough, an applicant spook appeared. In describing her later to the police, rich old rooster said she towered at least six feet tall. Moreover, he said dazedly, she was very muscular and wore a trench coat. He went on to tell the cops that he first took her to a long, lazy lunch that lasted until 4:30 p.m., then invited her back to his hotel suite for a daycap to continue the talk about transmitting the real him to print. Well, sir, they had this drink in his suite, bye and bye, after which he fell unconscious—as if the drink had not only been drunk but drunk.

Anyhoo, he told the Law when he recovered consciousness, several items were missing from his suite, notably, 1) the ghostwriter, and 2) an ikon he valued at $100,000, two watches worth $250 and $300 cash.

The story has spread uneasy waves through the ghostwriting fraternity. It is not a closely-knit group; indeed, there is generally bitter rivalry among its practitioners when some prominent person is in need of a literary (or literate) lift. George Meany, though he has a writer, could never organize ghosts.

What really must have shaken the spooks when they learned about the ikon (etc.) caper engineered by the Amazon in the trench coat must have been their memories of how much less profitable were the efforts of their own in serving as a conduit between buyer (the teller of the story) and buyer (the publisher).

In deep chagrin, they must have muttered, "Why didn't I just dress up in Richard Harding Davis's old trench-coat and rob my guy, instead of taking all those notes and sweating out months and months of words?"

I speak as a ghostly observer. I once wrote a book for a famous general who was so pleased to have his tome in the bookstores that he sent me an autographed copy, though I had written every sentence in the book except one, which he had penciled in as an afterthought comparing himself to Robert E. Lee. The general's autograph read, "To My Friend, the Ghost." I had always thought it was spelled, "Goast." or even "Ghost."

By going on the lam with the ikon and saving all the bother of writing the book, the fugitive spook saved herself the embarrassment of being blamed if the proposed book "by her patron laid an egg. Worse, there might have been the pain of having it become a best seller and being forced to stand mutely in the shadows of anonymity watching the ostensible author taking bows and autographing copies at literary teas. Ghostwriters, as the only guy in New York learned, are slips that pass in the night. Or late afternoon. At the party E. P. Dutton and Co. gave for Babe Ruth on the occasion of the book I did for him, after years of friendship, I got in the line of guests collecting autographed copies and, when my time came, asked my hero to sign one for me. "Sure," Babe said, and wrote "To my pal Bob." Then he paused and asked, "what the hell IS your last name?"

The equally late great Jimmie Foxx, given a handsome sum by a news syndicate to write some real inside stuff about a World Series he was about to engage in, gave only one instruction to his ghost. "Don't hurt nobody," Jimmie said. The also late great Earl Whitehill, retained by the old Washington Times to give his by-lined views of the 1933 World Series, in which he won (by a shutout) Washington's only victory over the New York Giants, formally complained about the stories that were written for him by a regular member of the Times sports staff. "He's making me sound like an illiterate," fumed the literate lefthander. Toots Shor couldn't read the book I wrote for him for two years after its publication. He explained that he had had a bad case of chapped lips, and a touch of arthritis in his reading finger. Most Presidents of the United States (but surely not Lincoln) have had ghostwriters. Some of them have been remarkable good. One thinks naturally of the gifted phrasing which Robert Sherwood lent to some of FDR's speeches, and the contributions of Ted Sorensen and Arthur Schlesinger Jr., to John F. Kennedy. President Nixon, on the other hand, has Pat Buchanan and, when the going gets tough, syn-tax-wise, Redskin Coach George Allen. President Eisenhower apparently had the services of former Vice President Alexander Throthelbottom, LBJ had John Wayne's writer, and, Harry Truman often must have employed an out of work Missouri mule skinner. But none of them—us—ever struck it as rich as the 6-foot lady in the trenchcoat, the perfect garment under which to spirit out a hot ikon. Have sent my war correspondent trenchcoat to the cleaners, have borrowed a fright wig and bought some wedgies, and am reading all the classifieds.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:
Friday night we had the displeasure to visit a "police state," a Teays Valley basketball game. We are college students (1972 T.V. grads) and did not have $1.50 for admission. We have not had $1.50 for entertainment in ages. We have expenses like tuition, books, and food. We went to the game hoping to see some of our friends home for Thanksgiving. We planned on going in after half time when it used to be free. We were in for a shock.

We entered the building and were met by a certain football coach. We asked if it was half time yet. He knew who we were and that we are not the trouble making type. But he did not even have the decency to tell us one cannot get in after half time anymore. He merely smirked, "Either buy a ticket or wait outside." We waited. When they stopped selling tickets, all the doors were locked by policemen. When someone left, they were re-locked.

Finally when somebody went out the door we stepped up to it and a policeman said, "No you don't!" as if we were some variety of degenerate criminal. We asked politely, "Can't you get in at halftime?" No way. His words are obscure to us now because his feelings of disgust and distaste were his true message. If we were ever looked at as if we were dirt, that was it. The door slammed in our face and was locked—protecting those inside from our distasteful presence.

Whatever reasons there are for these new policies does not justify the way we were treated. Treating young people with disrespect and as criminals only breeds criminal behavior and disrespect. Communities die this way.

We might also add that we are not always trying to get something for free. We attended football games this fall and gladly paid to see the whole game when we had the money.

We were proud to graduate from Teays Valley, but the Teays Valley we graduated from is not the one present today. We do not care to be associated with it, so from now on the school we proudly boasted of, we will now avoid claiming.

Sincerely,
LOIS SAYRE

No Free Ride For Companies?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Ohio polluters won't get a "free ride" because of the energy crisis, according to the state's Environmental Protection Agency.

"This short-term crisis is not going to change the nature of the cleanup struggle," deputy EPA Director Samuel A. Bleicher said Thursday in Cleveland. "There will be no free rides."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The effects of alcohol have been diminished by a new method being tried in experimental animals. A chemical, sodium acetate, is said to be able to reduce the speed with which alcohol is absorbed into the bloodstream. The way this drug works is by delaying the emptying of the stomach. The alcohol, therefore, remains in the stomach for a longer period of time. It is well known that normally alcohol is absorbed rather rapidly into the bloodstream from the small intestine.

Dr. Cleamond Eskelson and a large team of researchers at the University of Arizona have proved the validity of the use of sodium acetate to reduce rapid intoxicating levels of alcohol. This investigation is by no means meant to encourage the drinking of more alcohol. It may have the benefit of reducing the multiple calamities caused by drunken drivers.

An additional ray of hope related to this problem is on the horizon. Pressure on legislators is being made all over America to permanently withdraw the license of a drunken driver who once has been involved in a major accident.

It is a pathetic waste that lives so preciously saved by modern medicine are so carelessly sacrificed to the ogre of drunkenness.

that carry bile from the liver to the gall bladder is a severe and often fatal congenital defect. Dr. Morio Kasai, professor of surgery at the Tohoku University School of Medicine in Japan, was one of the first to devise a brilliant operation to correct this severe congenital condition. Performed under a microscope, pinpoint ducts can be reunited to re-establish the proper functioning of this system. This life-saving operation is now being done in America, saving many lives that might otherwise not survive.

A strange and extraordinarily interesting report has been released by scientists at St. Thomas's Hospital in London. It was found that patients with "serum hepatitis" of a particular kind could be rapidly diagnosed by using tobacco plants, of all things. Blood taken from such patients was injected into tobacco plants and caused the plants to wilt and be stunted. The leaves, too, died. Blood taken from patients with other forms of serum hepatitis had no effect on the plants. The most exciting aspect of this report is the ingenuity of scientists who investigate the most bizarre and far-out ideas to uncover the veils of mysticism that surround so many diseases.

An additional ray of hope related to this problem is on the horizon. Pressure on legislators is being made all over America to permanently withdraw the license of a drunken driver who once has been involved in a major accident. It is a pathetic waste that lives so precious saved by modern medicine are so carelessly sacrificed to the ogre of drunkenness.

that carry bile from the liver to the gall bladder is a severe and often fatal congenital defect. Dr. Morio Kasai, professor of surgery at the Tohoku University School of Medicine in Japan, was one of the first to devise a brilliant operation to correct this severe congenital condition. Performed under a microscope, pinpoint ducts can be reunited to re-establish the proper functioning of this system. This life-saving operation is now being done in America, saving many lives that might otherwise not survive. A strange and extraordinarily interesting report has been released by scientists at St. Thomas's Hospital in London. It was found that patients with "serum hepatitis" of a particular kind could be rapidly diagnosed by using tobacco plants, of all things. Blood taken from such patients was injected into tobacco plants and caused the plants to wilt and be stunted. The leaves, too, died. Blood taken from patients with other forms of serum hepatitis had no effect on the plants. The most exciting aspect of this report is the ingenuity of scientists who investigate the most bizarre and far-out ideas to uncover the veils of mysticism that surround so many diseases.

DECEMBER 1968 5 Years Ago Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 3331 requested the cooperation of Circleville officials and members of the police department in forming a Bicycle Safety Club. It was felt that a club would go far toward improving conditions as far as bicycle traffic was concerned. A city ordinance covered bicycle riders, but authorities believed that self-administered laws would prove much more efficient than those enforced by other persons. Pickaway county automobile dealers reported that their business doubled in November compared to October. Forty-four new cars were delivered during the month. The 775-odd old pension clients in Circleville and Pickaway county looked forward to receiving their aid checks after the Federal Social Security Board voted in Washington D. C. to restore federal grants for Ohio. The board had withheld federal aid to Ohio since Oct. 1 on grounds that the state pension administration was not being conducted properly. Mickey Rooney, Judy Garland and Lewis Stone in "Love Finds Andy Hardy" was the feature at the new Circle Theatre. Miss Mary Wilder, Circleville librarian, presented an informal talk on her recent trip to England at a social session of the Pickaway county Democratic Women's club. Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A question puzzling millions of Americans is how the country could know as long as 20 years ago that an energy crisis was developing—and then do little about it. The implications of the question, and its answer, are so cosmic as to provoke further basic questioning in the philosophical realm. If the ostrich is dumb, what does that make man? In the opinion of Dr. Jarl Dyrud, a University of Chicago psychiatrist, "We are very sensitive to the idea of there being any outer limits." Therefore, he suggests, we shut out the very notion. Americans, he said, have exhibited "fantastic denial" in failing to plan for the energy crisis. We knew that fossil fuels could not be relied upon so completely, he said, but it took a crisis for the fact to be faced. "It's not simply perversity," he said. "It has to do with one of our strongest myths, the myth of progress, the myth of an ever-expanding economy." Whatever the reason, denial is occurring all about us. Population is expanding perhaps faster than the world's ability to feed and clothe it. The car-highway-pollution-congestion syndrome is destroying cities, but solutions are avoided. In another glaring illustration, the mass of people continue to crowd into metropolitan areas, where living conditions grow worse by the month, while 90 per cent of the country's geographical area is untenanted. But these are problems that by current definition haven't reached crisis stage. The energy situation has, and with it has disappeared the notion that American industry automatically responds to need and fills voids in the market. Oil industry officials were indeed trying to win an audience two decades ago for their thesis that a confrontation with reality in the form of an energy shortage was bound to come. But few decision makers listened. More alarming, the oil industry itself seemed to grow disinterested. It knew of the vast resources lying undeveloped beneath and on the surface of the land. But it didn't spend the money to develop those resources. The explanation isn't difficult to understand. The fact is that the oil industry, like other industries, is committed to "progress," to showing a year-to-year advance in profits. It's obligation is to stockholders rather than national goals. From the nation's point of view, the more responsible corporate reaction would have been to commit billions of dollars to research and development. But how could oilmen explain this to stockholders? Instead, the industry was willing to import from abroad and leave the long-range problem to the U.S. government. But government policy failed to respond either, maybe because it too needs a crisis to justify its actions. The country knew but it preferred the comfort of ignorance. It could see but it chose to be blind. In 1961 the National Industrial Conference Board published "the considered views of more than 60 leading business executives, government officials, and economists and other scientists" on the outlook for the next decade. The book, titled "American Enterprise, The Next Ten Years," contains nothing about an energy crisis. The thrust of commentary, including that of government and utility officials, was about a bigger, more powerful America. In 1966 the National Planning Association published "Goals, Priorities and Dollars," subtitled "The Next Decade." Again, little mention of oil shortages. Instead, such gems as this: "Although there appears to be a relatively short future for domestic oil production utilizing present sources and technology, in the near future imports from a world surplus market should be easy." If you figure it out you might hold the key to the future. No Food Shortages Seen Along Turnpike CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Motorists may have trouble buying gasoline along the Ohio Turnpike this weekend, but they won't go hungry. Spokesman for the restaurants along the Turnpike said they plan to remain open on Sundays for now, although they might close later.

She then thanked all her officers and committee members for their faithful support throughout the year, and presented a gift to her worthy patron. Gifts from the officers to the worthy matron and patron were presented by associate matron, Thelma Noecker.

A beautiful plaque inscribed with the names of all members of Circleville chapter who have served the Grand Chapter of Ohio, dating back to 1898, was presented to the chapter by worthy matron, Kathryn, in memory of her parents, J. Sam Morris, past patron, and Addie V. Morris. Marie L. Hamilton, past grand matron, accepted the gift for the chapter whereupon she read the names of those who served, along with the offices and dates held and interesting personal comments.

Miss Hamilton gave a brief report on the General Grand Chapter meeting held earlier this month in Denver, Colo., where she served as chairman of the registration committee. After presenting her final registration report to the General Grand Chapter, a letter was read from Gov. John J. Gilligan congratulating Miss Hamilton on being the first woman ever to chair the registration committee, and commending her for her service to the Order of the Eastern Star and her community.

Following the close of chapter, a social hour was held in the dining room which was decorated in gold and white in honor of the 50-year members. Golden candles and bells graced the serving table which was centered with an emblematic star and flowers. Behind the table was a poster bearing a large golden "50" surrounded with momentos of earlier meetings.

Refreshments and decorations were provided by Beverly Currence, Leona Riegel, Marcelyn Evans and Chestora Peters, "The Girls In White" who have represented the past matrons and patrons this year.

Officers for the forthcoming year will be installed at the next regular meeting of the chapter on December 11th.

Mexicans Adore Their Children

By GUY H. LEATHERWOOD
For The Herald

EDITOR'S NOTE: The author of these articles is not a newcomer to the Herald's readers. His travel series have appeared in this newspaper on Alaska and Israel. A retired postal supervisor, farmer and real estate dealer, he lives in Ashville.

These Mexicans adore their children and they have plenty of them. They take life as it comes and never seem to be too much concerned. They are friendly, compassionate and confirmed optimists.

Some of the children are tanned and go around in the altogether. Others are topless or bottomless. But they seem to be having the time of their lives, playing with each other or the humblest of toys. Pieces of sugar cane are a prize for a child. They chew on it for the sweet juice.

Fruit is plentiful and cheap. They have some of the biggest and sweetest pineapples that I have ever eaten. An enormous one, about twice the size that we would buy in the super market at home would cost about six pesos (48 cents). There are no super markets in San Blas but where they are found they are called Maxis. Oranges, lemons, limes, strawberries and most everything else you can think of is available and cheap. There are many vegetables that I am not familiar with that are tasty and available.

Beans are one of the staples of the Mexican diet. Like the hominy grits in the Southern U.S.A. they will appear on your plate many times although they were not on the menu. A spoon full seems to complete the meal. Some places they are referred to on the menu as "refried" beans. As often as they appear maybe that is more truth than fiction. They are a small reddish bean, somewhat like large red kidney beans in flavor, but they must be cooked a long time, possibly three or four hours.

The sea offers many types of food—oysters, crabs, shrimp and of course many kinds of fish in abundance.

The coffee here is something that you would have to learn to like I believe. It is very strong and black, almost thick I would say. I just can't seem to like it.

Many tips on travel are furnished with Sanborn's Mexican Insurance policy. It is very unwise to travel in Mexico without Mexican Auto Insurance. You might wind up in the pory for a long time without it. Sandborns probably write more auto insurance than any other outfit in Mexico.

One day while strolling on the beach I saw a dead crab. Someone had put together a little wooden cross as a sort of monument to it. Whether you would look at it as humorous or serious it would make one think of man's concern for a fellow fallen creature.

For a small charge one can take a boat ride on the "river" and it is a very exciting ride. It reminds one of the boat rides in the Everglades in Florida except that it is much wilder with the overhanging branches and narrow channel. Then the boats travel at a pretty good clip and there is a certain amount of wild life to see. There were also nests that would resemble hornets nests somewhat but the guide said they were termites. We are perfectly willing to let them stay in Mexico. The mangrove bushes and roots coupled with their reflection in the water and the deep vegetation presents an unreal feeling like a disneyland show.

I have very much enjoyed my visit south of the border. These friendly people are wonderful. They are ingenious and make the most with what life has handed them. When I see what they are able to accomplish under what is sometimes great handicaps I must admire their determination. So, until the next time, adios amigo.

Medical School Funds Held Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Funding for the Wright State University Medical School has been "temporarily held up" while state regents await completion of a report by the governor's Task Force on Health Care, a vice chancellor said today.

Vice chancellor William Coulter said a $150,000 request to design two buildings for the school has been delayed for an unknown period of time.

Meanwhile, he said, $250,000 to begin hiring staff and starting the paperwork rolling has been distributed to Wright State and to a proposed medical school for universities at Akron, Youngstown and Kent.

Family Together In Life, Death

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — The skeleton of an elderly woman was found in a locked-up house today, and police said it appeared as if her body had been placed in the living room by a brother and sister who wanted her to "remain part of the family."

Their bodies were found upstairs in the bed where they died of natural causes, officials said.

Police said the skeleton of Cecilia Kenney, 84, was discovered on a downstairs couch facing a television set. They said she may have been dead as long as a year.

Upstairs, police found the bodies of

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Flirtation is getting out of hand

DEAR ABBY: Last summer I met a woman I'll call "Dotty" at a housewares show. We had booths near each other, and were instantly attracted to one another. I'm a 42-year-old married man, but the fire had gone out of my marriage a long time ago. Dotty is 40. She said she and her husband were on the verge of splitting up.

We had an exciting thing going for the duration of the convention, but I never made her any promises.

After I got home, Dotty started calling me at work every day. She even came to my town to see me several times! Now she says she's in love with me, is divorcing her husband, and wants to marry ME! Abby, I am not in love with this woman and divorce never entered my mind. I have three children and Dotty has two. She's talking about telling her husband and my wife about "us." That's the last thing I want.

I admit she's physically exciting, but I don't want to break up my home for her. I've been so nervous lately, my wife keeps asking me what's wrong. How do I get out of this mess?

JUMPY CLUTCH

DEAR JUMPY: Tell Dotty it was just a summer romance and you're not a man for all seasons. If she's serious about telling your wife and her husband, you'd be ahead to tell your wife and start furnishing the doghouse. What Dotty's husband will do is worry number two. If you're lucky, Dotty will let you off the hook and disappear, after which you should keep your mind on your own business when you go to the housewares show.

DEAR ABBY: I am a salesman in a retail store. There is a small matter with the lady customers which has been bothering me.

Now that women are wearing pants suits, many forget to zip up their flies, and they come into the store with their flies open. It's easy for one man to say to another: "Hey, Buddy, your fly is open."

But how does a gentleman tell a strange lady her fly is open?

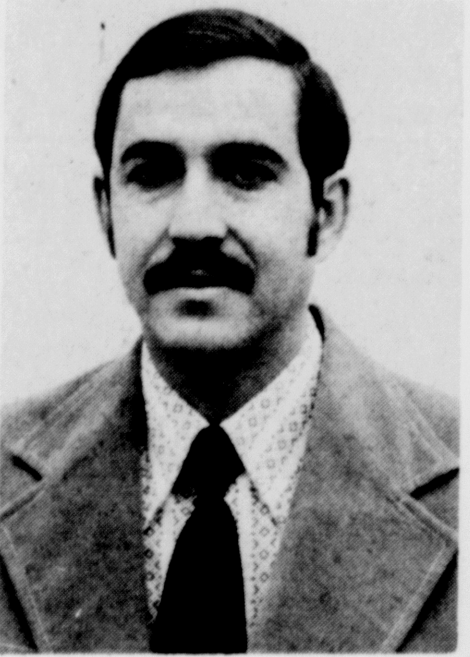

AGAPE IN COLORADO

DEAR AGAPE: If you lack the courage to tell a stranger her fly is open, tell a female clerk with whom amount of wild life to see. There were also nests that would resemble hornets nests somewhat but the guide said they were termites. We are perfectly willing to let them stay in Mexico. The mangrove bushes and roots coupled with their reflection in the water and the deep vegetation presents an unreal feeling like a disneyland show.

I have very much enjoyed my visit south of the border. These friendly people are wonderful. They are ingenuous and make the most with what life has handed them. When I see what they are able to accomplish under what is sometimes great handicaps I must admire their determination. So, until the next time, adios amigo.

Medical School Funds Held Up

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Funding for the Wright State University Medical School has been "temporarily held up" while state regents await completion of a report by the governor's Task Force on Health Care, a vice chancellor said today.

Vice chancellor William Coulter said a $150,000 request to design two buildings for the school has been delayed for an unknown period of time.

Meanwhile, he said, $250,000 to begin hiring staff and starting the paperwork rolling has been distributed to Wright State and to a proposed medical school for universities at Akron, Youngstown and Kent.

The Vikings put it all together as they led all the way and completely dominated the game from the start. It was their second straight win in league play and showed that they will have to be considered a team to beat in the race for the title.

Craig Pontius was top man for the Vikings with 18 points, Jim Logsdon added 14, Jeff Anderson and Terry Collins had 12 apiece, Jay Brinker and Bill Browning each had eight, Terry Lambert, Chuck Glitt and Lee Stiles each netted six, George Spohn had four and Kevin Pettibone and Dave Glick had two points apiece.

Pat Grice led West Jefferson with 13 points while Jeff Pfeil and Gary

West Jeff connected on 24 of 74 attempts from the field for 33 per cent and sank 14 of 29 shots from the charity stripe for 48 per cent.

Teays Valley won the battle of the boards with 49 rebounds to 36 for the Roughriders. Logsdon was the big rebounder for the Blue and Gold and Thompson led the Roughriders.

The Vikings committed 12 turnovers in the game while the Roughriders misplayed the ball 15 times.

Teays Valley showed the potential of a strong club as they moved out to a 22-14 lead at the conclusion of the first quarter. They began to increase their margin as the second quarter progressed and coach Bob Hoover began to go to his bench midway through the period. It was the Vikings night as they held a comfortable 52-29 edge at halftime.

The starting five once again opened the third period and after they connected on nine of their first 10 shots in the frame Hoover went back to the bench with everyone seeing action. When the period ended the Vikings were holding a 75-41 edge on the scoreboard.

The Blue and Gold cagers contined to roll in the final canto and when the buzzer sounded they had put another win in the victory column.

The Vikings are now 3-0 on the season and 2-0 in league play. They will host the Rangers of Hamilton Twp. Friday night.

Teays Valley's reserve squad also got into the winning act with a thrilling 50-45 overtime victory over the West Jefferson reserves.

Tigers Drop Thriller To Lions

It was a real battle at Washington C.H. Friday night as Circleville and the Blue Lions went at it hammer and tongs before a large crowd that saw the Tigers drop a narrow 65-61 decision to the boys from Court House in a South Central Ohio League contest.

It was the kind of a game that kept the crowd on the edge of their seats as the teams fought on an even keel with neither squad being able to break the game open.

Jeff Wallace was the key to the win for the Lions as the 6-foot-5 performer hit 16 shots from the field and five from the charity stripe for a total of 35 points.

Kris Kline paced the Tiger attack with seven from the floor and six from the free throw line for 20 points. Robin Martin added 13, Harold Reed tallied 12, Perry Hoskins had nine, John Ankrom six and Doug Radabaugh one.

Doug Phillips tallied eight for the Blue Lions, Kenny Knisley had six, Craig Shaffer five, Chuck Byrd four, Alan Coppock three and Garth Cox and Bill Shaw each had two.

Both teams had hot hands in the game with Circleville hitting 23 of 40 from the floor for 59 per cent and shooting 67 per cent at the free throw line.

Washington C.H. connected on 30 of 53 from the field for 56 per cent and had a 75 per cent mark at the foul line.

The Tigers pulled down 24 rebounds in the contest and the Lions grabbed 18 misses on the boards.

In the turnover department, Circleville committed 20 and Washington C.H. misplayed the ball 16 times.

A sign of things to come showed in the first quarter when the game was tied eight times. They traded baskets throughout the period with Hoskins, Kline and Martin countering the heavy scoring of Wallace. The quarter ended with the Lions on top, 22-19.

The second canto was more of the same with Wallace hitting for the Blue Lions and Kline and Martin ripping the nets for the Tigers. Ankrom's bucket at the buzzer gave the Tigers a 38-35 margin at halftime.

It was the Tigers holding onto a narrow lead throughout most of the third period and the Red and Black cagers were out in front 44-43 at the three-minute mark.

But three straight buckets by Wallace countered a pair of two-pointers by Kline and the Lions were back on top 49-48 as the buzzer sounded—the Tigers never led again in the contest.

Wallace hit four straight buckets to open the final frame and the Lions had a nine point lead, 57-48. But the Tigers had no idea of playing dead and Reed and Kline tallied four points apiece to cut the gap to 57-56 with three minutes to play.

With 1:20 left in the contest Reed hit from the lane and the Tigers only trailed by two, 63-61. But Shaffer connected for two points and the clock ran out with the Lions on top, 65-61.

Circleville is now 1-1 for the season and will host Madison Plains in another SCOL tilt Friday night.

Westfall Drops Tilt To Millersport, 68-47

After a tight first half Westfall faltered in the last two periods and dropped a 68-47 decision to Millersport Friday night at the Mustangs' gym.

The Lakers' big man, 6-foot-3 Eric Alexander, was too much for the Mustangs to handle as he hit 12 from the floor and five from the charity stripe for a total of 29 points. The talented Alexander also dominated the boards as he pulled down 19 rebounds for the Lakers.

Brad Beatty paced the Mustangs with 12 points, Jay Clark and Doug Williams each had 11, Jim Picklesimer added six, Joe Angles, Dave Shannon and Jeff Davis had two points apiece and Randy Hildenbrand tallied one.

Stan Stought added 10 points to the Lakers scoring, Dave Brookover and Kim McDonald each had nine, Steve Crist netted five, Bart Hall tallied four and Mike Keller had two in the winning effort.

Westfall had trouble finding the range as the Mustangs only hit on 18 of 71 shots from the field for a cool 25.4 per cent and converted 11 of 22 from the foul line for 50 per cent.

The Lakers netted 28 of 58 from the floor for 48.3 per cent and meshed 12 of 19 from the free throw stripe for 63.1 per cent.

The battle of the boards went to the Lakers with 41 rebounds to 33 for the Mustangs. Clark led the Mustangs as he pulled down 12 misses from the glass.

Millersport committed 22 turnovers in the contest and Westfall misplayed the ball 18 times.

Both teams had trouble getting the ball into the bucket at the outset of the game and Westfall held a narrow 5-4 margin at the two-minute mark in the period.

But Alexander connected for six points to pace the Lakers to an 11-9 edge at the first period buzzer.

Clark, Beatty and Picklesimer began to tally for the Mustangs in the second frame but once again Alexander was scorching the nets and Millersport held a 27-23 margin at halftime.

The last half belonged to the Lakers as they built up a 45-35 lead at the third period buzzer and came on strong in the final quarter to gain a 68-47 victory. Millersport's reserves made it a double win for the night with a 54-41 win over the Mustangs.

The score was tied 12-12 at the end of the first period, Millersport grabbed a 25-18 edge at halftime and led 40-28 at the conclusion of the third period.

Bill Hamman had 11 points, Chris Riddle added nine and Kevin Reid had eight to pace the Mustangs. John Largent was the big man for the Lakers with 25 points and Bob Washburn tallied 12.

Westfall is now 2-0 for the season and will be at Bishop Flaget Saturday night.

Mahaffey Feels Breath Of Nicklaus

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — John Mahaffey faced an interesting problem in mental gymnastics today—how to ignore the menacing presence of Jack Nicklaus.

"I know he's there, but I'm gonna try not to think about it," Mahaffey said Friday after Nicklaus had surged to within two strokes of his lead in the third round of the $150,000 Walt Disney World Open golf tournament.

"I'm going to try hard not to worry about him. I know he's there. But what am I gonna do about it? I can't just pass. I've got to play. So I'll just try to play my game and not worry about him. I want to play the course not the man.

"I think another 69 would give me a good chance to win the golf tournament."

Mahaffey, a 25-year-old tour sophomore who scored his first pro victory a little more than a month ago, had a three under par 69 in almost ideal playing conditions Friday and maintained his two stroke lead with a 206 total.

That's 10 under par on the 7,162 yard Magnolia Course at Walt Disney World, but just two in front of Nicklaus and four others tied at 208.

Davis Cup Matches Held In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Stan Smith and Erik van Dillen held the key that will keep the door open for the United States in the 73rd Davis Cup tennis world finals.

Smith and van Dillen face a yet to be named Australian doubles team today in the third match of tennis' supreme test in Cleveland's 50-year-old, high-ceiling Public Hall. The winner will be decided in the best-of-five match series.

Aussies John Newcombe and Rod Laver defeated the U.S.'s Stan Smith and Tom Gorman in the first two single matches in marathon tennis bouts Friday.

Bulls Bomb N.Y. Knicks

By HOWARD SMITH

Associated Press Sports Writer

"New York is like a machine," explained Chicago forward Chet Walker, "and if you take out two or three parts, they fall by the wayside."

Walker and Co. caught the Knicks' machine in low gear Friday night and romped to a 115-97 victory. It was the fifth straight loss for the National Basketball Association's defending champs and dropped their overall record to 12-12. New York trails first-place Boston by six games in the Atlantic Division.

"Anytime you play a team without Willis Reed, Jerry Lucas and Earl Monroe, you're going to have it pretty easy," said Walker. "Most of the other Knicks are young guys who are not used to playing together."

Reed, Lucas and Monroe are all out of action due to injuries. New York forwards Dave Debusschere and Bill Bradley both played but the Bulls held the pair to a combined total of just eight points.

CLEVELAND (AP) — The name of Sunday's game in Kansas City between the Cleveland Browns and the Chiefs is defense.

Both clubs have excellent defensive units, while both have difficulty finding the end zone on offense.

Chief Dean Winner Of Latonia Feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Latonia closes its 29-day flat harness meeting tonight with an 11-race card.

The 3,624 fans who turned out Friday night bet $211,115, the largest mutuel total in four years.

Chief Dean won the $3,250 mile invitational trot by a neck in 4:23 flat and paid $6.80, $4.60 and $3.40.

Illini Lose, OSU Wins In Big Ten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Originally, the game was scheduled for the Assembly Hall in Champaign. But Illinois yielded and allowed its team to go to Arizona to play where a new arena was being dedicated.

The gesture was pure but the Illini came off with a 101-80 defeat at the hands of Arizona in the first of two games Friday which kicked off the Big Ten basketball campaign.

While Illinois was losing away from home, Ohio State rolled to an easy 90-62 victory over Texas-Arlington.

Bill Andreas came off the bench to score 20 points to lead the Buckeyes to victory.

Wardell Jackson added 15 points and Jack Wolfe hit for 14 more towards the Buckeye total. Ohio State wrapped up the victory by scoring 13 straight points at the start of the second half to take a 51-30 lead.

Arizona used a burning fast break in the second half to subdue invading Illinois.

Ranked 15th, Arizona held only a five-point lead at the half but opened up leads of as much as 23 points late in the game.

Eight other Big Ten teams swing into action Saturday with conference-favored Indiana taking on The Citadel, Northern Illinois going to Iowa, Southern Illinois invading Michigan, California-Davis playing at Minnesota, Southern Illinois-Edwardsville going to Purdue, Rollins challenging Wisconsin, Michigan State going to Central Michigan and Northwestern invading Ohio University.

More Bowl Games Sought For Big Ten

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two Michigan legislators have introduced a resolution in the state House calling on the Big Ten to allow all conference teams to accept post-season bowl bids.

The resolution, sponsored by Rep. Gary Owen, D-Ypsilanti, and Raymond Kehres, D-Monroe, is a result of the tumult over the Big Ten vote which sent Ohio State, and not Michigan, to the Rose Bowl after they tied, 10-10, last Saturday.

Westfall Drops Tilt To Millersport, 68-47

After a tight first half Westfall faltered in the last two periods and dropped a 68-47 decision to Millersport Friday night at the Mustangs' gym.

The Lakers' big man, 6-foot-3 Eric Alexander, was too much for the Mustangs to handle as he hit 12 from the floor and five from the charity stripe for a total of 29 points. The talented Alexander also dominated the boards as he pulled down 19 rebounds for the Lakers.

Brad Beatty paced the Mustangs with 12 points, Jay Clark and Doug Williams each had 11, Jim Picklesimer added six, Joe Angles, Dave Shannon and Jeff Davis had two points apiece and Randy Hildenbrand tallied one.

Stan Stought added 10 points to the Lakers scoring, Dave Brookover and Kim McDonald each had nine, Steve Crist netted five, Bart Hall tallied four and Mike Keller had two in the winning effort.

Westfall had trouble finding the range as the Mustangs only hit on 18 of 71 shots from the field for a cool 25.4 per cent and converted 11 of 22 from the foul line for 50 per cent.

The Lakers netted 28 of 58 from the floor for 48.3 per cent and meshed 12 of 19 from the free throw stripe for 63.1 per cent.

The battle of the boards went to the Lakers with 41 rebounds to 33 for the Mustangs. Clark led the Mustangs as he pulled down 12 misses from the glass.

Millersport committed 22 turnovers in the contest and Westfall misplayed the ball 18 times.

Both teams had trouble getting the ball into the bucket at the outset of the game and Westfall held a narrow 5-4 margin at the two-minute mark in the period.

But Alexander connected for six points to pace the Lakers to an 11-9 edge at the first period buzzer.

Clark, Beatty and Picklesimer began to tally for the Mustangs in the second frame but once again Alexander was scorching the nets and Millersport held a 27-23 margin at halftime.

The last half belonged to the Lakers as they built up a 45-35 lead at the third period buzzer and came on strong in the final quarter to gain a 68-47 victory. Millersport's reserves made it a double win for the night with a 54-41 win over the Mustangs.

The score was tied 12-12 at the end of the first period, Millersport grabbed a 25-18 edge at halftime and led 40-28 at the conclusion of the third period.

Bill Hamman had 11 points, Chris Riddle added nine and Kevin Reid had eight to pace the Mustangs. John Largent was the big man for the Lakers with 25 points and Bob Washburn tallied 12.

Westfall is now 2-0 for the season and will be at Bishop Flaget Saturday night.

Mahaffey Feels Breath Of Nicklaus

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — John Mahaffey faced an interesting problem in mental gymnastics today—how to ignore the menacing presence of Jack Nicklaus.

"I know he's there, but I'm gonna try not to think about it," Mahaffey said Friday after Nicklaus had surged to within two strokes of his lead in the third round of the $150,000 Walt Disney World Open golf tournament.

"I'm going to try hard not to worry about him. I know he's there. But what am I gonna do about it? I can't just pass. I've got to play. So I'll just try to play my game and not worry about him. I want to play the course not the man."

"I think another 69 would give me a good chance to win the golf tournament."

Mahaffey, a 25-year-old tour sophomore who scored his first pro victory a little more than a month ago, had a three under par 69 in almost ideal playing conditions Friday and maintained his two stroke lead with a 206 total.

That's 10 under par on the 7,162 yard Magnolia Course at Walt Disney World, but just two in front of Nicklaus and four others tied at 208.

Davis Cup Matches Held In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Stan Smith and Erik van Dillen hold the key that will keep the door open for the United States in the 73rd Davis Cup tennis world finals.

Smith and van Dillen face a yet to be named Australian doubles team today in the third match of tennis' supreme test in Cleveland's 50-year-old, high-ceiling Public Hall. The winner will be decided in the best-of-five match series.

Aussies John Newcombe and Rod Laver defeated the U.S.'s Stan Smith and Tom Gorman in the first two single matches in marathon tennis bouts Friday.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some situations highly mystifying. Try to get some background information that will help you clarify matters.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your personal interests should fare well now, and you may receive some unexpected aid from an influential person. Travel and romance also favored.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Do not become too deeply involved in the affairs of others or you could invite fatigue, distress. A good outlook for travel plans.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Your ambitions can be given full rein now. Map route for next week along sound lines. You are in a position to make fine long-range plans.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Some restraint in order; also some rechecking of plans. Prospects brightening in several areas, but foresight a "must."

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Develop and follow up on those novel ideas which come to your bright mind but are often tossed aside because of your innate conservatism or hesitancy.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Don't permit trifles to be blown out of proportion, distorting your innate perceptiveness and good judgment. Aim to ease tensions in close circles.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Be careful of details, avoid doubts and a trend toward misunderstandings. You can avoid possible friction if you are on your toes, thinking ahead every step of the way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): You may face moments of uncertainty. As with Scorpio, stand firmly against wavering and doubting. Concentrate on significant issues only.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): This day calls for teamwork and compromise. Utilize opportunities wisely; keep working toward your highest objectives.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Someone in a position to help will be a willing listener, so outline your goals frankly. But be sure they are realistic.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A cherished dream may seem almost impossible of realization, but don't lose faith. An almost "miraculous" bit of luck could turn the tide in your favor.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a magnetic and warm-hearted personality and a wealth of talents through which you can attain a happy and successful life. In fact, your versatility gives you many and varied avenues toward career achievement and personal development. Your business acumen is extraordinary and your remarkable memory could become a priceless asset in any field. You also have a flair for the artistic and could shine in the fields of music, literature or the theater. However, you might make your greatest success in the law, where your gift for words would make you an outstanding trial lawyer, and act as a springboard to the worlds of statesmanship and diplomacy—where you would really shine. Birthdate of: Joseph Strauss, eminent 19th Cent. German violinist and opera conductor; Julie Harris, actress.

Say Eckert Donations Were Illegal

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— State officials generally have declined comment on a report that Ohio Insurance Department Deputy Director Erhard E. Eckert contributed $2,900 illegally to several political campaigns in 1970.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer said in this morning's editions that Eckert delivered the contributions out of a $5,000 company bonus he received as an executive for the American Ship Building Co. in Cleveland.

Amship Chairman George M. Steinbrenner III also declined to comment on the report "on advice of legal counsel."

Eckert came to the insurance department in March 1972. He was a vice president for administration at Amship in 1970.

The Plain Dealer said Eckert admitted the contributions after being summoned to talk to the special Watergate prosecutor's staff in late September.

The Watergate prosecutor already is looking into allegations that a similar company bonus scheme at Amship was used to deliver $25,000 in corporate contributions to President Nixon's re-election campaign last year.

Eckert said he believed the contributions, parceled out on company orders, were legal at the time, the newspaper said.

But "Eckert conceded the contributions violated both state and federal law prohibiting use of corporate funds to political contributions," the newspaper said.

"However, the one-year statute of limitations has expired on the state law, and it is unclear whether any prosecution might occur under federal law."

Fire Chief Lists Winter Precautions

Too much of a good thing can lead to tragedy when it involves home heating systems and heating appliances during the cold winter months warns Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe. Each winter, many families lose their homes, suffer injuries or even die from misused or unsafe heating in their homes.

Wolfe cited reasons for serious home fires occurring during the winter months. Overworking heating equipment to the point of weakness and defects is a major cause of fire. This winter with the energy crisis emphasized, many people are opening old fireplaces which have been left closed for many years. The most important fire prevention measure here is to make sure the flue is clear.

Fireplaces should never be left unattended where a spark or piece of wood could fall onto the floor. Wolfe insists that a metal mesh screen be used in front of the fireplace.

Another factor to consider is children playing more indoors where they may be tempted to play with matches or fire. Children should be supervised at all times and matches kept out of reach.

Chief Wolfe suggests that during the winter, people are home more and people cause the majority of the home fires. During the shortened periods of daylight, overloaded circuits are also a dangerous hazard.

With the energy cutback of gas and petroleum products, an increase has developed in the sales of permanent and portable electric heaters. The consumer should make sure the appliance has been approved by Underwriters Laboratories (UL). Portable models should be equipped with an automatic shut off switch if the heater is accidentally knocked over.

All electric heaters should be used on the proper size house wiring and fuses. Wolfe recommends a fuse no larger than 20 and adequate size wire within the house for use of these heaters. He strongly recommends a competent electrician be consulted before attaching this type of appliance on the present house wiring system.

Juvenile Court Hears 23 Cases During Week

Judge Guy Cline handled 23 cases in juvenile court this past week. Prosecuting cases against nine delinquent youths, two traffic offenders and four adults were County Prosecutor, Richard L. Gerhardt and assistant, James R. Kingsley. Eight neglected children completed the week's proceedings.

Charges filed by Deputy Sheriff Donald Thompson against a 15-year-old Route 2, Ashville boy brought five years probation. Judge Cline suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission and ordered the youth to make restitution for the two counts of grand larceny.

Grand Larceny and violation of probation charges were also filed by Deputy Thompson against a 17-year-old Mt. Sterling girl. The girl was placed in the permanent custody of the Ohio Youth Commission for the offense.

A 16-year-old Circleville boy was released from the Pickaway County Jail to his father. The youth had been confined for violation of probation.

Two counts of grand larceny brought three years probation to a 14-year-old Chillicothe boy arrested in Pickaway County by Deputy Thompson.

A charge of breaking and entering was transferred to Pickaway County from Madison County against a 14-year-old Route 2, Circleville boy. Judge Cline suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission and a sentence of 60 days in the Pickaway County Jail and placed the youth on four years probation. He was also ordered to make restitution.

Stealing parts from a motor vehicle brought three years probation to a 17-year-old Derby boy. Deputy Danny Dewey made the arrest. A sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission was suspended.

Twenty days of a 30 day jail sentence were suspended in a case against a 17-year-old New Holland boy. Judge Cline suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission and placed the boy on probation for a period of three years for assault and battery.

A 16-year-old Derby boy was confined to jail for ten days for school truancy. School truancy also brought a jail sentence to a 17-year-old Circleville girl. The girl was confined for three days of a ten-day sentence and probation was continued.

Upon the request of assistant prosecutor, James R. Kingsley, the court dismissed charges of assault and battery on a minor against Mark A.

Say Eckert Donations Were Illegal

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— State officials generally have declined comment on a report that Ohio Insurance Department Deputy Director Erhard E. Eckert contributed $2,900 illegally to several political campaigns in 1970.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer said in this morning's editions that Eckert delivered the contributions out of a $5,000 company bonus he received as an executive for the American Ship Building Co. in Cleveland.

Amship Chairman George M. Steinbrenner III also declined to comment on the report "on advice of legal counsel."

Eckert came to the insurance department in March 1972. He was a vice president for administration at Amship in 1970.

The Plain Dealer said Eckert admitted the contributions after being summoned to talk to the special Watergate prosecutor's staff in late September.

The Watergate prosecutor already is looking into allegations that a similar company bonus scheme at Amship was used to deliver $25,000 in corporate contributions to President Nixon's re-election campaign last year.

Eckert said he believed the contributions, parceled out on company orders, were legal at the time, the newspaper said.

But "Eckert conceded the contributions violated both state and federal law prohibiting use of corporate funds to political contributions," the newspaper said. "However, the one-year statute of limitations has expired on the state law, and it is unclear whether any prosecution might occur under federal law."

Clearing skies and a northerly flow of cold air during the night let temperatures fall into the mid 20s to the mid 30s. The chilly spot in the state was Toledo with a pre-dawn reading of 26.

Skies were to remain clear today, with plenty of sunshine and southerly winds pushing the temperatures up into the 40s. More of the same is on tap Sunday, with highs reaching the 50s to the low 60s along the Ohio river.

Generally clear skies tonight will let the temperatures again drop into the upper 20s and low 30s.

Fire Chief Lists Winter Precautions

Too much of a good thing can lead to tragedy when it involves home heating systems and heating appliances during the cold winter months warns Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe. Each winter, many families lose their homes, suffer injuries or even die from misused or unsafe heating in their homes.

Wolfe cited reasons for serious home fires occurring during the winter months. Overworking heating equipment to the point of weakness and defects is a major cause of fire. This winter with the energy crisis emphasized, many people are opening old fireplaces which have been left closed for many years. The most important fire prevention measure here is to make sure the flue is clear.

Fireplaces should never be left unattended where a spark or piece of wood could fall onto the floor. Wolfe insists that a metal mesh screen be used in front of the fireplace.

Another factor to consider is children playing more indoors where they may be tempted to play with matches or fire. Children should be supervised at all times and matches kept out of reach.

Chief Wolfe suggests that during the winter, people are home more and people cause the majority of the home fires. During the shortened periods of daylight, overloaded circuits are also a dangerous hazard.

With the energy cutback of gas and petroleum products, an increase has developed in the sales of permanent and portable electric heaters. The consumer should make sure the appliance has been approved by Underwriters Laboratories (UL). Portable models should be equipped with an automatic shut off switch if the heater is accidentally knocked over.

All electric heaters should be used on the proper size house wiring and fuses. Wolfe recommends a fuse no larger than 20 and adequate size wire within the house for use of these heaters. He strongly recommends a competent electrician be consulted before attaching this type of appliance on the present house wiring system.
